

Chair: Anna-Lissa Mullis

Drawing on her background representing health care organizations and professionals in a variety of matters before trial and appellate courts, as well as in private arbitration, Anna-Liisa Mullis strategizes with clients to resolve complex disputes. Her work includes both defending and prosecuting a multitude of complex matters involving hospital-provider contracting, hospital-vendor contracting, hospital-physician joint ventures, physician-owned entities, and provider-payor disputes as well as antitrust disputes in the healthcare sector. Along with her litigation practice, Anna-Liisa also works closely with clients on analyzing and advising on fraud and abuse, patient privacy, data, and innovation matters. She is known for her ability to build trust in a heavily regulated space and to grasp complicated concepts specific to the industry. Anna-Liisa has devoted considerable time to pro bono work, including working on both of the cases brought in an effort to increase K-12 school funding in Colorado, Lobato v. State and Dwyer v. State. Anna-Liisa has also contributed a significant amount of pro bono time to counseling non-profits with regard to a variety of HIPAA and other health care matters.
