

Elizabeth Bibiloni, MS, BSW

Elizabeth has worked with Denver Health for the past 14 years. Currently serving as the senior care navigator for the Cardiology department.

For the past 6 years, she created and developed the Community Cancer Resource Center for individuals in need during and after their cancer journey. After working for the interdisciplinary surgical breast team with social worker Pam Harris a connection was formed. After seeing the need to expand the resources and be inclusive of other patients' cancer diagnoses.

Prior to working at Denver Health, she worked as a social worker in Puerto Rico gaining valuable experience in a high-risk youth community.

Elizabeth is well known for her compassion, caring attitude, and belief that every person should have the opportunity to be as healthy as possible. In 2016 she was recognized by The American Cancer Society with the Lane W. Adams Quality of Life Award a prestigious national honor for cancer care and commitment.

Elizabeth consistently exhibited excellence and compassion in providing care to cancer patients, going above and beyond her duties to make a difference in the lives of patients and their families.

Since 2017 she is also a board member of the Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment, The Cancer, Cardiovascular, and Pulmonary Disease Grant Program. Elizabeth's past times include spending time with her family and grandchildren, cooking, and gardening.
